

"Phishers Use Private Banking Messages to Lure Victims"

Submitted by K\_Hooper on Fri, 09/29/2017 - 11:40am

This article contains information about a phishing campaign spotted by security vendor Barracuda Networks that uses a variety of legitimate looking emails to impersonate banks such as Bank of America and TD Commercial Banking. Briefly highlighted is the importance of staff training and awareness following a research study out by Accenture Security. The article also discusses the potential threat of these emails on the targets of these attacks, and gives advice on how to lessen the impact.

Infosecurity Magazine reports "Phishers Use Private Banking Messages to Lure Victims"

---