

Quantitative Verification for Human-CPS

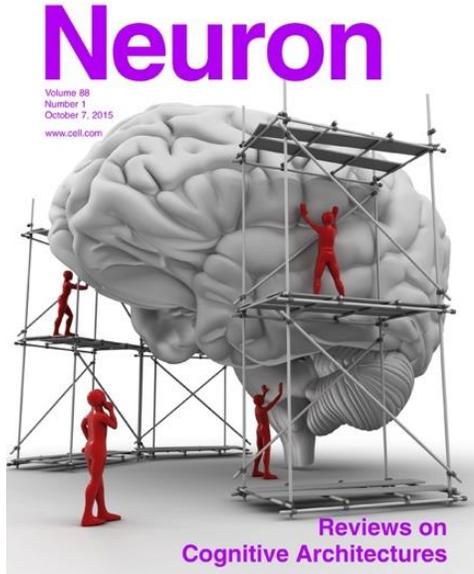

Lu Feng (University of Virginia)

Bridge the gap

Human factors research

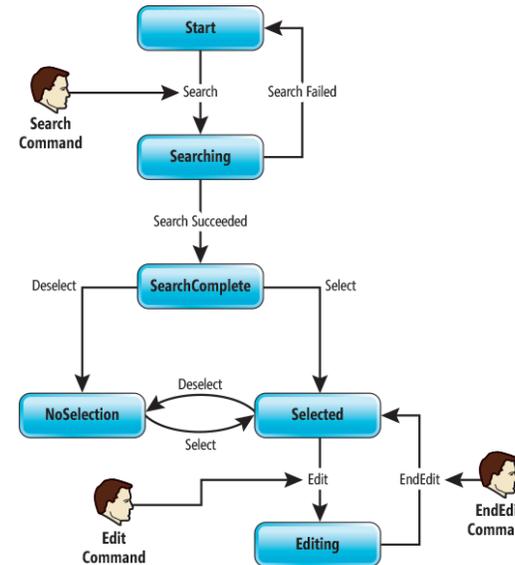

- Empirical studies
- Cognitive architectures

Too complex for verification/synthesis

Formal methods applications

- User interface models
- Mental models (state machines)

Not detailed enough for expressing rich human operator characteristics

Exciting recent result:

- A new logic PRTL* for reasoning about cognitive trust

Lessons learned:

- Collaboration with domain experts